

Mister Weatherglass

---

Lyrics by Christian Lander. 2021.03.08

Hey Mr. Weatherglass, how's my life to be
Any changes in the horizon
Any surprises coming over me
Hey Mr. Weatherglass what's there to see?
What's in it for me?

There will be rain, man, heavy weather and thunder storms
You better prepare, man, for breaking waves and roaring winds
There will be rain, man, heavy weather and thunder storms
You better prepare, man, for coming changes in your life
Watch out, for here it comes

Hey Mr. Weatherglass, how's my life to be
Any changes in the horizon
Any surprises coming over me
Hey Mr. Weatherglass what's there to see?
What's in it for me?

There will be windless days, drifting 'round with no control
You better prepare, man, for hunger, thirst and lonely nights
There will be windless days, boring times alone onboard
You better prepare, man, for unexpected days ahead
Be ready, for here it is

There will be sunshine too, glittering seas and smiling breeze
You must enjoy it now, feed your spirit while you can
There will be sunshine too, smiling faces and loving days
You should enjoy my friend, boost your mind with happy thoughts

Let the sun shine in your heart

Seize the day before it rains. This is your chance, here and now
Make love under the clear blue sky. Hold on tight to your honey pie
Feel the summer-wind caress your skin. Let this breeze ease your mind
Sing along with the birds in the trees. Make your own symphony
Swim out naked into the open sea. Let the ocean set you free
Listen to the stars calling from above. Tonight is the night, the sky is clear

Don't you wait for better times. You never know what tomorrow brings Allow this to be a brighter day. Don't you wait until it rains again
Don't be late, this is your chance. Embrace life now while you can.

Let the sun shine in your heart

Every hour counts, my friend
This is your time - Your time is now - Your time to smile