

The Island

Lyrics by Christian Lander. 2021.03.18

Like a mirage in the horizon
You came into my life
Like the loveliest island
For a man long lost at sea

Happily dropping my anchor
In this calm and peaceful bay
Search is over, destination found
Finally I can go ashore

How could I have expected this
Seeing you for the first time
Yet knowing you since ever
Did you know me already too?

You are the loveliest creation
That God ever made
My body shivers, my knees are weak
My heart is aching and my brain runs dry
Will you take my hand be my bride?
Ah, won't you, please

How could I have expected this
Seeing you for the first time

Let me feel you close to me
Let me love you day and night

You are the only one for me
In the ocean of eternity

Like a powerful volcano
Your love is a burning fire
A crystal clear waterfall
A blooming garden full of fruits

You are the island of my dreams
The island I have been longing for My true happiness depends on you
My love is bound to you alone

Let me be with you, now and forever
Prove my love every day
My body shivers, my knees are weak
My heart is aching and my brain runs dry
You are the most beautiful woman
My love to you can never die
My body shivers, my knees are weak
My heart is aching and my brain runs dry
Will you take my hand, be my bride?
Ah, won't you, please

Will you take my hand and be my bride?
Oh, please, please, please say yes
I love you infinitely much
And I will love you forever more.
